On the second Sunday in May is Mother’s Day. American children of all ages give their mothers something special. It is the day, children, young and old, try to show their love to mothers.

England was the first country to set(设置) a day to mothers. In the United States, an American girl, Anna, asked their government(政府) to set a festival for mothers that they love. In 1910, Mother’s Day became an official(官方的) holiday. And they set the second Sunday in May as Mother’s Day and a year later all the other states(州) celebrated it.

On Mother’s Day morning, some American children serve(服侍) their mothers breakfast in bed. Other children will give their mothers presents which they make themselves or buy in stores. Adults give their mothers red carnations(康乃馨), the official Mother’s Day flower. If their mothers left the world, they may bring white carnations to their grave sites(墓地). This is the busiest(最忙的) day of the year for American restaurants. On this special day, family members do not want Mom to cook dinner!
